Spectator Notes

K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of The Church of the Wayfarer, caught Professor Toro, leg man on a local paper in one of his more impressive exaggerations recently. Toro blandly told the populace that Mr. Gray had married some 1,600 couples. Cut that by four, Toro, and you'll be nearer right.

Mayor Horace Lyon officially told Mary Jean Byars, eighth grader of Starkville, Miss., that Carmel does have a village bulletin board. Seems the class read a story about it and, being children of the modern age, doubted the existence of such a quaint article. But Mayor Lyon's letter will dispel the idea that Carmel has progressed right along with Starkville. Thank God!

Nobody Home... We dialled 2-7111 this week. It is the phone number of Fort Ord and the Army Language School, the only number listed for either. There are about 18,000 men involved at Ord alone, but on this occasion there was no answer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hansen are back in their Carmel Woods home after a 6,000 mile, 5-week Mexican trip. They report the new highway from El Paso down to be wonderful... and "the most modern, fanciest motels" they've ever seen.

When the monument at Fort Ord is dedicated tomorrow and sealed, there will be enclosed, along with the names of contributors to the edifice, a copy of each of the local papers. We are honored and all week have been made just a little uneasy by the spectre of posterity.

"Top Secret"-- The Department of the Army sent to us a large manila envelope this week, stamped "Official Business," "Do Not Fold," and with the penalty for private usage warning in its upper right hand corner... It proved upon opening to be absolutely empty.

BURGLARS CAUGHT

Three of the four burglars who robbed the Village Corner last month have been apprehended and have confessed their part in the robbery. Originally arrested Tuesday by sheriff's deputies on another charge, the three Seaside youths confessed the Carmel robbery to Police Chief Clyde Klaumann after he questioned them Wednesday night. The fourth is reportedly in San Diego.

LOCAL MEN MAKING FILM OF ALS AND COMMUNITY

Bob Read, impresario of the Hill Theater, and Charley Stanyon, local movie photographer, have teamed to make a motion picture on Monterey and the Army Language School. Called "One World, U.S.A.," the film will show in detail the unique school and its impact on the community.

Made with the whole-hearted support of the ALS, the two men hope that the movie "short" will receive nationwide distribution. Audiences all over the country will then become acquainted with the methods used at the school as well as the resulting cosmopolitan atmosphere of the Monterey Peninsula.

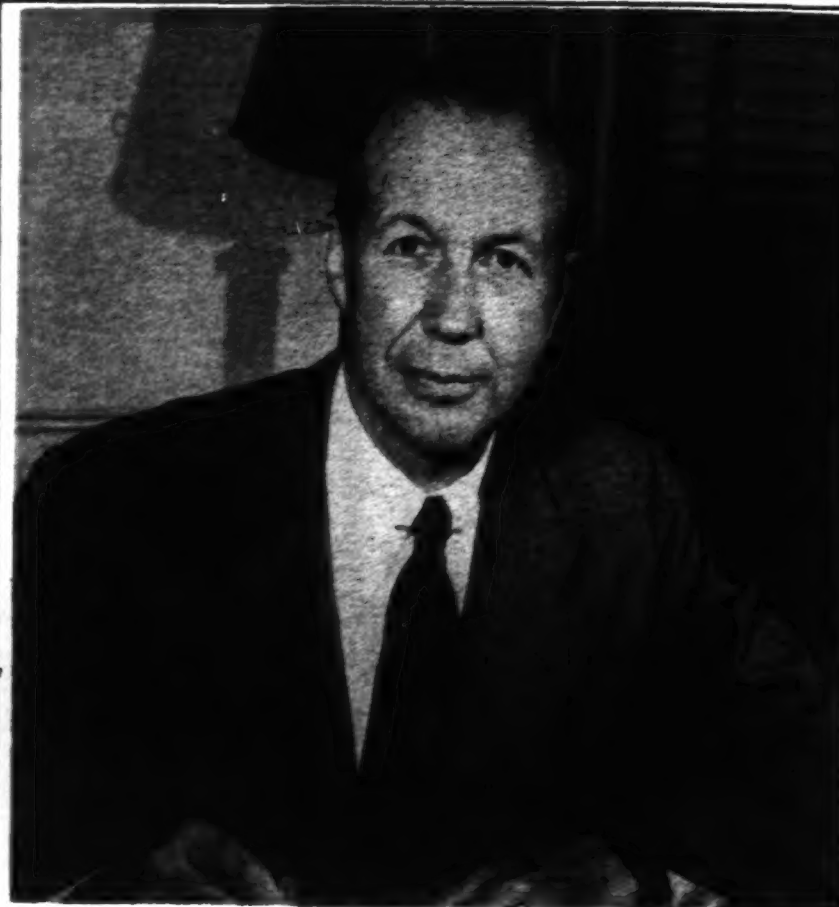

The script for the documentary-type film was written by Read, who is also directing. Stanyon is doing the actual camera work with technical assistance from ALS personnel. The cast is made up principally of school students and instructors but local civilians are also in some scenes.

The actual shooting started last Monday and is now about two-thirds completed. It will run, in final edited form, about 20 minutes.

CHIEF GOES TO SCHOOL

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann will spend four days next week attending the annual FBI school learning the latest information from the experts. The four-day course includes lectures on law, new detection techniques, and new law enforcement methods.

The course, held at Arrowhead Springs, will last from Wednesday through Saturday. When he returns he will put what he has learned before the police department. "We always get some good pointers from the lectures," Klaumann said. "These men are tops in

MRS. CLARK TO BE ELECTED TODAY

Mrs. Howard Clark, uncontested candidate for the school board vacancy left by the retirement of Mrs. Martha Moller, will be officially in today, after the polls close at 7 p.m. this evening.

DOG SHOW APPLICATIONS

Plans are now completed for the Del Monte Kennel Club's show June 7 at Pebble Beach. Application blanks and premium lists are now available at all Peninsula pet shops, and many have been mailed to out-of-state dog fanciers.

Entries must be in by a week from tomorrow, May 24. After that date no entries will be accepted, cancelled or substituted by the club.

A long list of trophies, many offered by local people, are included in the premium list. The judges include Mrs. Winifred L. Heckman of Townson, Maryland, and Miss Jean G. Hinkle of Osterville, Massachusetts.

SCOUTS SUMMER PLANS

Fran Petersen, commissioner of the local Monterey bay area Boy Scout council, has announced that summer camping and outdoor activities programs for Cub Packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer units have been completed.

Cub Packs, whose membership consists of 8, 9, and 10 year old boys, will, as is customary, be restricted to outdoor picnics and events centered around home and parents, with no overnight camping permitted.

Boy Scout troops for 11, 12, and 13 year olds, will attend the council-operated long-term summer camp, located in Big Sur State Park. This camp will open its first period Sunday, June 8.

An Editorial-

The County Republican Central Committee, at its meeting last week, publicly acknowledged the weakness of Congressman Ernest K. Bramblett. Although the GOP county war chest has to be split six ways, almost half went to the efforts to reelect Bramblett.

This is a sad situation in several ways. First, the central committee, dominated by Chairman S. V. Christerson, decided some time ago to back Bramblett--long before the field was surveyed to see if there wasn't a stronger Republican candidate. Second, the committee, once pledged to Bramblett, felt it must do anything and everything to see that he got back in office. This included violating the whole primary system by supporting with GOP funds one of two Republican candidates for the party's nomination.

Third, and possibly most important, the committee's actions have served to undermine its leadership of the party in the county. Many Republicans, outraged by the support given to such a weak candidate, have refused to support the party.

The situation becomes even worse when it is considered that the Republicans have a strong candidate in James L. Holmes. This able man's candidacy was not even considered by the central committee. In fact, before it had made a definite public decision, Holmes appeared before the group and asked for support. Holmes said that at that time Christerson told him that as chairman of the Republican committee he would do everything in his power to see that no one ran against Bramblett.

Although the committee could not keep Holmes out of the race, it did decide to prop up its weak candidate in the primary, even if this meant spending GOP funds before the primary. The result was that of $37,000 raised locally, $16,000 was allocated to Bramblett--$8,500 to be spent before the primary.

That this is contrary to the spirit and intent of the Direct Primary Law was expressed in an opinion by the state attorney general as recently as January 7, 1952. The opinion reads in part, "...If a party central committee intervenes in the primary election campaign, it acts not for the party's candidate but for one of several contestants for the party's candidacy. It conducts not a party campaign but a campaign on behalf of a particular individual, group or faction within the party..."

Candidate Holmes promises to be an active representative in Congress, one who will work hard and will reflect the wishes of his constituents. Holmes can make a good strong campaign. Bramblett, on the other hand, has done little if anything since he first went to Washington. He knows this and so do the voters. Thus Bramblett does not dare return to face questions and publicly acknowledge his weakness.

He must rely on the central committee's efforts and funds to be reelected. His only chance is to let them fight the battle for him because he has nothing on which he can base a campaign.

Why the Republican Central Committee, knowing all this, supports a weak candidate instead of a strong one remains a mystery.

BERT HARWELL IN AUDUBON LECTURE

The last and best known lecturer of the Audubon Society seasonal Screen Tours will be at Sunset School Auditorium tonight to show his spectacular color film "Canada North." A native son, Charles A. (Bert) Harwell draws from a life-long study and intimate association with every phase of California flora and fauna and will in this lecture draw as well from an expedition to Canada.

In Canada there is a big, fabulous country of Eskimos, Indians, trappers, Mounties, and huskies; of woods buffalo, elk, reindeer; mighty rivers seldom seen, and vast plains, or Arctic tundra, carpeted with brilliantly colored wildflowers.

Penetrating into this strange and beautiful land of the midnight sun Harwell filmed these plants, birds, scenes and wildflowers, beginning with buffalo and elk at Riding Mountain Park near Winnipeg and following a trail north that ended at Aklavik, in the Mackenzie River delta, north of the Arctic Circle.

A strange and lovely land this country of the Arctic, where Harwell has filmed the sun as it moved, remaining above the horizon, in a circle in the sky. "Canada North" is the northland at its best, in the bright dress of an Arctic summer, where the light of day never dies and the life of night is that of day.

The lecture will be at 8 p.m., preceding which Audubon members will give a dinner for Harwell at Pine Inn. All those desiring to attend should notify Mrs. Isabelle Terhune at 7-6028.

FIVE IN ONE

A unique and highly rewarding experiment was brought forth at the Wharf Theater last weekend. Based on the idea of the Laughton production of Shaw's "Don Juan" this group is doing a set of readings from five plays. Against a plain black drop, with lecternes, the actors read, with a minimum of gestures and bodily action, from a wide variety of pieces. Thomas Brock, in informal continuity, introduces the pieces and actors, moves the few props about, and does a commentary on the director's point of view.

The climax of the evening is a beautifully done scene from "Medea," Robinson Jeffers' interpretation of the Greek play, flawlessly paced by Ruth Warshawsky in the title role. Mrs. Warshawsky placed a prime claim on eminence during the evening in this role, and one which in itself would justify the price of admission. She was well supported by Mary Buckner and Don Gunderson.

The first piece of the evening, a reading from "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Wilde, was less interesting, partly because the satire is dated, and partly because of a lamentable tendency on the part of the actors to include themselves in on the joke. One of the essential ingredients of comedy is a naivete on the part of the cast... if their tongues are visibly in their cheeks, they deprive the audience of its role... that of appreciator. This is a tendency which the Wharf Theater has shown before... that of leading the audience, of usurping its right of being the intended perceiver. Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni shone in this piece, with a voice and bearing well suited to the role of Lady Bracknell.

The prologue to Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," done by Ruth Warshawsky and Don Gunderson was weak in this reviewer's opinion, and again, because Gunderson could not forebear playing the role with a heavy, "I'm in on the joke" hand. Ruth Warshawsky was competent, as always, in the role of the wife.

A scene from the Wharf success, "Blithe Spirit," offered a fine chance to Peggy Cease, Dorothy Osborne and William Hawley, who performed their parts well.

A reading of "The Snow Queen," Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale, was most competently led by Linda Pollard, with good support from Mary Buckner. Robert Carson as the boy child of the piece was well done.

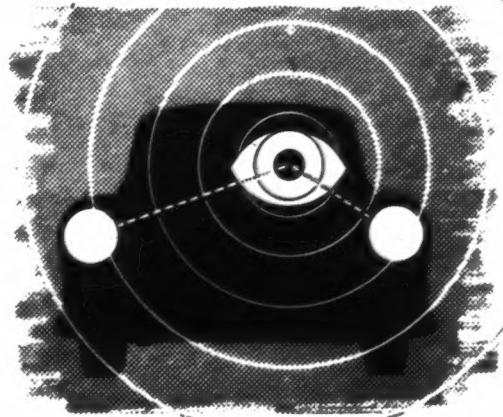

The capping piece, "Medea" was flawless in this reviewer's opinion, and deserves nothing but loud Huzzahs... a pleasure to bestow.

One last carp would be a wish that the commentary which accompanies the piece were a little less self-consciously avant garde. The words wit and sophistication recur incessantly, and the self-conscious discussion of the true meaning and intent of the author does not add to the playwright's lustre. If the Wharf finds the play to have merit, if the meaning is there which they apparently felt to be there when they selected the play, then they should be content to let the playwright do it in his own way, and through the medium of the play. Restraint, in a word, is the thing. Just a little more credit must be given the audience... and a little more professional respect to the playwright. I have never attended a professional production where one was told what to savor, and what to think... out of the context of the play. It seems a pretty good principle to follow. The most potent argument for this is the excellence of the Wharf cast. Though they hesi-

BOB TALBOTT, a new Carmel light who seldom wears a neck tie, has found that the road away from "The Point of No Return" is paved with bow ties. A successful banker in New York for fifteen years, Talbott decided one fine day that his house in Connecticut, his two and a half hour commute, and his frayed nerves were a little less than he wanted from life. With the backing of his attractive wife, Audrey, he chucked it all and came to Carmel, to make, of all things, bow ties. Two years after the business was begun, with a small local account, he is supplying Neiman Marcus and Brooks Brothers with the major portion of their bow shaped neck wear. In short, business is booming.

Born in Iowa, Bob Talbott went to Harvard Business School and, after graduating, into the Cowles Publishing house in Des Moines. As assistant to the publisher he was a general expeditor of the radio stations, "Look" and other magazines.

After five years there, he went to New York where he settled, not too happily, into the Equity Corporation, an insurance and banking corporation, in charge of one of its insurance companies. It was there that the ulcer circuit began... a road paved with expensive entertaining, nerves and pressure. With the exception of four years in the Army as a Pentagon major on Arnold's staff, Talbott saw no out.

Married in 1945 to Audrey Sharpe, a Cleveland girl, the Talbotts came to Carmel for a honeymoon. Bob had decided to retire to the Peninsula much earlier when he'd attended and enjoyed a banking convention at the old Hotel Del Monte. With firm resolution they went back to New York, deciding to wait ten years before retiring to Carmel, a plan that dwindled down to two years, when they decided that Audrey's bow-ties, which she made for Bob and some of his friends, might be the way out.

With a three year plan substituted for the ten year plan, they came to Carmel and Audrey began cutting the ties, with Bob working on the selling. They had planned to risk all on keeping the business alive for three years, hoping that by the end of that time it would provide a living. This is the second year and it has already surpassed their best hopes for it. With twelve women sewing and the Talbotts cutting, buying fabric and shipping, it is a thriving and prosperous livelihood.

Talbott of Carmel ties are cut and planned in a guest room of the Talbotts' home in Carmel--and Robbie, their four and a half year old son, is chief model and trier on. The sewing is done, in their own homes, by seamstresses that the Talbotts have found on the Peninsula.

A highly attractive couple of people, the Talbotts add to handsome features the happy look of people doing what they'd like to do--and not an ulcer among them.

SPENKER'S
HOUSE OF CARDS

Ever hear of this American Revolution?

This American Revolution took place without muskets, without riot, without bloodshed. But it was one of the most important in history... a "revolution" stemming from the development of the container known as the tin can. Consider how the can-making and canning industries have bettered our economy through mass-production and utilization of modern containers for more than 1500 products:

1. These modern containers have improved public health by making available a varied and nutritious diet.

2. They have provided more and better jobs in manufacturing, processing and distribution.

3. They have increased and stabilized farm income by lifting seasonal limitations on marketing.

4. These modern containers have increased purchasing power and stimulated economic development.

5. They have turned wasteland into fertile acres, thereby increasing the property value of farm land.

6. They have made available better products packaged more conveniently and economically.

Only in America—where a free, competitive economy encourages and stimulates enterprise—could such a wonderful "revolution" have occurred.

Valley headlines for next few weeks will be copped by the Valley Variety Show whose dates have now been set finally as June 13, 14, 15 and 20, 21, 22 (Fri., Sat., Sun.). "Curse You, Jack Dalton," the 45-min. old time melodrama leading off the show, is well into rehearsal with cast numbering Esther Fleharty, Roland Scheffler, Millie Kimball, Patty Trevett, Lorraine Marcucci, Bob Bratt and Parker Kimball... Ten olio acts have been worked up including song and dance numbers, skits, blackouts, but MORE ARE WANTED. Also MORE PEOPLE TO TAKE PART in skits, dance numbers, and help with the show in general. ALSO original acts are NEEDED. The show's joint chiefs of staff want as much local (Valley) talent as they can get, pointing out that this is an excellent place for frustrated talent to be released inasmuch as it is just a good natured neighborhood show like the old Minstrel Show... and, of course, being produced for a very good reason--the Valley Community Center. That's why it should be everybody's show. Anybody with an idea, gag, or willingness to act, get in touch with Sam Brandt at the Post Office, or By Ford at the Carmel Valley Realty.

Big Ladies Night (also for small ladies) coming up Mon. night at Mathiots for Valley Kiwanis and Salinas Kiwanis who will have a big inter-club doings this night with imported Salinas talent furnishing the entertainment. Newest K member is John Ostrander. Lecturer Tony Ara Bia heard speaking to the ladies of the Peninsula's Delphian Society on "Has Modern Psychology and Progressive Education Taught the Modern Generation How to Live Better than Grandpa and Grandma?"... Tony says he is on the fence in the matter, which of course is good psychology and also very diplomatic...

CERAMICS EXHIBIT

Katherine Allen, well known local ceramist of the Monterey Peninsula, has her work now on display in the Carmel library. The exhibit will continue for one week.

This is the second exhibit in a series scheduled by the Carmel Crafts Guild to encourage and stimulate interest in the Crafts of the Monterey Peninsula.

You can swing it if you try

HAVE you, by any chance, been casting eyes at a Buick, and promising yourself that someday you will take the Big Step and have one all your own?

Let us whisper something to you. The "big step" isn't big at all.

We know that's true, because such a high percentage of present Buick owners traded in a car tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field."

So why not set your sights on this star performer?

Why not enjoy big-car comfort — big-car power — big-car prestige for your money?

There's one of these lively lovelies waiting for you to come in and try it.

Get the feel of its mighty Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head. You could pay $300 to $400 more for a car that doesn't match its horsepower.

Get the feel of Dynaflo Drive*, that lets you ride relaxed—feeds a silken flow of power — and at the same time cuts down on upkeep costs, by protecting the engine, the rear end, and even the tires, from driving strains.

Get the feel of a ride that cost a million dollars and more for controls of end-sway and side-roll and vertical "throw"—for X-bracing the frame and V-bracing the torque-tube keel—for a total of 15 ride-engineering features.

One thing you'll know for sure when you've tried it. This car wasn't "built to a price." It's a Buick through and through.

But the fact remains that — when you check the price of a Buick SPECIAL against the price tags on so-called "low-priced cars"—you'll find out you can swing it if you really want to.

And brother, will that make your family happy!

Refreshments will be sold on the grounds. There is no admission charge.

RUBINSTEIN CONCERT

A capacity audience rose to their feet in tribute to pianist Artur Rubinstein at the conclusion of his concert last Friday at Sunset Auditorium. The Carmel Music Society saved the best for the last in presenting this peerless artist in the closing concert of the season.

Rubinstein's program ranged from the majestic grandeur of Beethoven to the flashy brilliance of Liszt and never found him lacking in either technique or musical understanding. His Haydn Andante was precise and dry and conveyed beautifully the cerebral appeal of this music. In the Schubert Impromptu, he displayed a warm and light touch eminently suited to the material.

Rubinstein's playing of the Beethoven Waldstein Sonata gave ample evidence that in artistic stature and integrity he, as a performer, was the equal of the composer.

Following the intermission, the artist once again demonstrated his complete mastery of Chopin. The enthusiastic response of the audience to the three programmed pieces led to the inclusion of two more as encores, a Mazurka and the Grand Polonaise, at which Rubinstein is undoubtedly world's champion.

Ravel's Ondine left one marvelling at the tonal range at this artist's disposal.

The closing selection was Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz." This lightning and thunder special may eventually replace the "Fire Dance" with those of Rubinstein's followers whose biggest thrill lies in seeing him rise from the piano bench and descend upon the keyboard, with unerring accuracy, from a height of three feet.

Rubinstein unfortunately competed last Friday with one of the noisiest audiences in this writer's experience. The selfishness of cold sufferers who place their own musical enjoyment above the respect due an artist of Rubinstein's accomplishments and the courtesy due the rest of the audience is disheartening, to say the least. Rubinstein, who ordinarily displays the most charming platform manner, was moved to glares at several points.

A sincere vote of gratitude is due the Carmel Music Society for bringing this performer to Carmel. Hearing him was a memorable and soul-satisfying experience.

The fascinating story of the Soviet spy ring headed by the fabled Richard Sorge is told in a new book by Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby called Shanghai Conspiracy. Willoughby, who was Chief of Intelligence under General MacArthur from 1941-1951, has included in his book Sorge's own story, written while he was in a Japanese prison. General MacArthur has written a preface for the book.

The second volume of the Memoirs of Herbert Hoover is also among the new books this week. This covers the period from 1920-1933. Kenneth Robinson has written a biography of the originator of the detective story, Wilkie Collins. Collins, whose Woman in White was the first of its genre, led an active life as a social reformer but was unfortunately a hopeless drug addict.

A book of practical value is Leo Solomon's There's Money in Pictures. Solomon held many responsible positions with various newspapers and wire services as picture editor and he is currently chief of the press photo unit of the Department of State. He offers advice and instruction to photographers in how to take newsworthy pictures and how to market them.

John Masefield, England's poet laureate, has written So Long to Learn, which is described as an autobiography of an artist's mind.

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

A new friend, at least to us, has come into our garden. She is Mme. Henri Guillot, a healthy, vigorous individual with lots of appeal and a very sturdy type. Mme. Henri Guillot is a climbing rose of superb quality with long lasting buds that open very large, with indescribable tones of coral-pink with a very faint touch of light yellow. If you are looking for a wonderful rose--this is it. It also comes in bush form.

However, there are hundreds of roses from which to select your favorite color. It is wise to select the variety with large strong leaves. In this fog belt many of the small leaved varieties are much more susceptible to rust, mildew, and black spot. Your nursery will advise as to the best method to use for blight resistance. Now is a good time to visit the nurseries to see the blooms and types of bushes. The bushes grown in 5-gallon cans can be planted, but the season is a bit late.

CLASSES OF ROSES

The hybrid tea rose blooms repeatedly during the summer season and often late in fall. Many are propagated as climbing and bush, and this is the most popular variety grown in home gardens.

The hybrid perpetuals are free blooming, but they only bloom once at this season.

The polyantha roses are usually dwarf bushes; the flowers are formed in clusters above the bush. The old time favorite is the Cecil Brunner, which is also a climber and very beautiful.

The floribunda roses are a strain of the tea rose. They grow tall with larger flowers and bloom almost continuously.

They are growing in popularity. Pinocchio is a very highly rated rose for color and bloom.

ROSE CULTURE

(1) Keep the ground at the base free from litter, grass and weeds. These encourage pests, mildew, scale and rust.

(2) Work into the soil a cup of a balanced commercial fertilizer keeping it away from the trunk of the bush. Immediately give a good soaking so that the fertilizer is able to reach the roots of the plant. Start this when the plant is in full leaf and then repeat each month until September.

(3) During the warm dry season, place a mulch of peat moss and steer manure around the base. A cup of bone meal is very helpful in making strong growth. Roses like a slight application of clean wood ashes; just a few handfuls. In the dry season, keep the roots cool and moist.

(4) Irrigate each bush thoroughly once each week; do not get water on the leaves as it will wash off your spray material and thus encourage mildew. Early morning is the best time for watering.

(5) Spray thoroughly every 10 days with Orthotix and Isotox according to directions. Hit the stalk, underside of leaves and the ground surrounding the bush. If the leaves appear clean and healthy, spraying may be extended to two or three weeks. If any of the leaves are yellow or discolored, pick them off and burn them.

(6) Pick off all spent blooms, and in cutting always take a long stem leaving at least two or three eyes on the mother stem. Do not leave any long bare stems; they spoil the bush and retard subsequent blooms.

The rose is the queen of flowers and requires a little more attention and care, but it is worth all that you do for it.

Next week we hope to report on the AWVS Garden and Patio Tour. We hope to have some photographs showing interesting groupings and plantings.

When you pay your telephone bill, about 28 cents of each dollar goes for taxes.

How much tax in your telephone bill?

When you pay your telephone bill each month, an important part of your money is passed on in taxes to the Federal Government and to state, county and city governments. Naturally, we expect to contribute our fair share of the cost of government... but because taxes now account for such a large portion of the cost of service, we feel we should report about them to you who, as telephone customers, have to pay them.

Your telephone is taxed in two ways: One, through the operating taxes we pay to run the business--income taxes, property taxes and the like. In 1951 these came to $81 million for Pacific Telephone, an all-time high. Two, by Federal excise levies you pay on local and long distance service. Last year we collected more than $70 million in excise taxes from our customers and turned it over to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

To give you some idea of the size of our tax bill, it is estimated that the total excise and operating taxes we paid in 1951...$152 million... could have supported all the 131 schools of higher education in California. In terms of the average telephone, this is $35 per telephone per year...$2.92 per month. Twenty years ago the average was 53 cents a month.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

In spite of sharp increases in taxes, wages, materials and other costs of providing service, we've been able to hold down the prices you pay for service...hold them so low, in fact, that the telephone today is one of the best buys in any budget.
